Description

The diverse array of plants at Kew is a haven for wildlife throughout the year. In spring, enchanting wildfowl babies appear; summer flowers attract a host of insect pollinators; come autumn parakeets and squirrels raid chestnuts while in winter swans court – this is Heather Angel's Wild Kew. In all, a stunning array of photographs and advice, the result of devoting a year to capturing Kew's wildlife.

"I relished devoting a year to exploring and photographing the wonderful array of wildlife within the Gardens and I hope my book will encourage young and old alike to enjoy the wildlife riches in this, Kew's 250th anniversary year".

Heather Angel, June 2009

Author information

Heather Angel began working as a marine biologist, but abandoned this for a career as a wildlife photographer. Now she manages her own image library – Natural Visions. She works abroad extensively but relished devoting a year capturing Kew's wildlife. Heather is an enthusiastic communicator via her books, lectures and workshops – including her annual Kew course. Major solo exhibitions have been on show in London, Beijing, Kuala Lumpur and Cairo. Heather's work has been recognised by worldwide honours, including a special professorship from Nottingham University. She was President of The Royal Photographic Society from 1984–1986.
