Your support will help people around the world.

Human well-being depends on plants. From improving the air we breathe to providing medicine and livelihoods, plants are vital to all life on earth.

Kew is at the forefront of global efforts to protect plant life from the effects of habitat loss, climate change and pollution and to understand potential benefits for mankind. An internationally-renowned centre of plant science with collections dating back to Darwin and beyond, Kew works with partners around the world to spread knowledge, and help deliver plant and habitat conservation programmes that will enrich lives.

Our current programmes include helping farmers in Ghana to find companion plants for cocoa as an additional source of income and working with communities in South Africa to grow plants to improve the health of people suffering with Aids. We are also investigating the anti-cancer properties of wild rice, and of sage for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease. Our Millennium Seed Bank is the largest global collaborative conservation project, aiming to save 10% of the world's plant species by 2010.

For this work, Kew needs your support. Half of our funding every year must be raised from external sources. By joining our Corporate Membership scheme, your company and employees will benefit and you will be helping us continue our vital plant science and conservation work in the UK and abroad. Corporate Membership of Kew helps demonstrate your commitment to corporate, environmental and social responsibility. We look forward to welcoming you to Kew.

Thank you.

Free admission for your employees and a range of benefits to choose from to suit your company.

Reward and inspire your staff.

Over 1.5 million people every year find beauty, tranquillity and inspiration in Kew's world-renowned gardens and woodlands in London and Sussex. Just 30 minutes from central London, the 300 acre World Heritage Site of the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew has been inspiring visitors for nearly 250 years. Wakehurst Place, less than 30 minutes from Gatwick, is home to 500 acres of rolling parkland, woods and lakes and the world's most ambitious conservation project, the Millennium Seed Bank.

Reward your employees with free unlimited access to these two glorious gardens throughout the year. Give your most valued resource the space to unwind with family or friends, find inspiration and have fun – and help support Kew's vital conservation work in the UK and abroad.

Corporate benefits and discounts.

Alongside employee benefits such as free entry and retail discounts, corporate membership brings a range of advantages, including complimentary and discounted venue hire at one of London's most stunning locations. Enjoy a glittering gala in Kew's elegant Orangery, exclusive after-hours access to the Gardens for a summer evening reception or use our conferencing facilities for away-days with a difference. Whatever the occasion, Kew has a venue to suit your needs.

Membership also brings complimentary tickets to our sell-out Summer Swing concerts, where employees or corporate clients can enjoy exceptional entertainment in a relaxed environment. Regular monthly updates and complimentary copies of Kew Magazine will ensure that your employees are the first to know about events and happenings at Kew and Wakehurst Place. You can also receive private view and event invitations to give your company access to exclusive networking opportunities.

Benefits no-one else can offer.

Inspire your staff with behind-the-scenes tours and talks at Kew or Wakehurst. Or bring Kew to your office with a talk, lecture or demonstration from one of our horticultural or conservation experts. Membership demonstrates your commitment to Kew and its work, while involving and motivating your employees.

The four levels of membership...

"The themes of discovery and innovation are fundamental to a research-based company like GlaxoSmithKline and as part of our continuing program of community support we see our relationship with Kew as essential to communicating to the general public our joint dedication to science and the environment. Kew continues to be the most popular and widely used corporate benefit accessed by our staff and their families, as well as a favourite venue for meetings and events."

Employee Volunteering Days

Fancy being a Kew Gardener for the day? Team volunteering days are available at Kew Gardens offering a great opportunity to boost team morale and provide an opportunity for employees to interact in a non-work setting.

Kew Gardens is just across the River Thames from Chiswick and is only 30 minutes from central London. Reach us by Underground, train, bus, riverboat or car. Kew's country garden, Wakehurst Place is just north of the village of Ardingly, near Haywards Heath in West Sussex. It is less than 30 minutes from Gatwick airport and 15 minutes from the M23. For details on how to reach both gardens, please go to www.kew.org
